NASSTRAC Announces 2008 Member of the Year Awards

5/5/2008

MINNEAPOLIS, MN - NASSTRAC recently announced that Mike Regan, CEO and chairman of Tranzact Technologies, has been named the 2008 "NASSTRAC Regular Member of the Year." Each year, this honor is awarded to an individual logistics executive who has demonstrated personal leadership, commitment, and dedication to the industry as well as to the association. NASSTRAC provides advocacy, education, provider relations, and networking for professionals involved in all areas of transportation, ranging from full truckload and LTL to containerization and global logistics.

"As chairperson of the NASSTRAC Advocacy Committee, Mike is very well-known and has been an icon in our industry," said Gail Rutkowski, NASSTRAC's current chairperson. "However, this award is being presented for all of the things he has done behind the scenes. Two years ago, NASSTRAC made a commitment to aggressively devote significant attention to transportation advocacy issues. Mike has worked tirelessly to make sure the shippers within NASSTRAC not only know what the issues are, but also that they clearly understand them."

In addition, NASSTRAC also announced that Al Burba, vice president of field sales for DHL Express, is the recipient of the 2008 "NASSTRAC Associate Member of the Year." Each year, the association presents this award to an individual from the service provider community who has shown leadership, continued commitment to the industry, and support of NASSTRAC. According to Rutkowski, Burba has been an active member of the carrier advisory council for the association for two years and has put forth significant energy in encouraging productive dialogue between shippers and service providers while assisting NASSTRAC in expanding membership into all modes and market segments of transportation.

Both awards were announced April 29 at NASSTRAC's Logistics Conference and Exhibition in Orlando, Fla. For additional details, visit www.NASSTRAC.org or call 952/442-8850.
